Aid vs. Sputnik

With the convening of the second session of the 85th Congress, it might be interesting to watch the developments pertaining to federal aid to education.

As you will recall, shortly after the first session of the 85th Congress recessed last August, the Soviet Union launched Sputnik 1. Many people became panicky and pointed the finger of blame at the American education system. Talk of federal aid to education reached a high pitch.

During the congressional interim, the National Education Association (NEA) drafted a long range four and a half billion dollar program of federal assistance to education. This program contrasts with the 300 million dollar federal aid bill the NEA proposed last year which was defeated 208-203.

"Schools have starved too long," said William G. Carr, NEA Executive Secretary. "The public schools are trying to defend our way of government and advance the well being of the nation, yet many people don't want to give education the necessary financial help."

The NEA's Legislative Commission, which transfers NEA policy into an action campaign, urged the use of federal funds for support to elementary and secondary education.

It said that federal funds should be given to the states for either school construction or for "supplementing teacher salaries without regard for subject matter taught."

The commission also urged that the various state departments of education be strengthened to assure that the instructional programs of the states and communities can't be dictated to from any higher level.

Many educators believe that federal aid to education will consequently mean federal control of education.

The NEA's new program would also include 20,000 undergraduate scholarships the first year, growing to 80,000 in four years, and 5,000 graduate fellowships which would be increased to 15,000 after three years.

Ready for a change?

It used to be believed that the moon had definite effects upon the minds of human beings — the looney ones, that is.

There is no doubt that man-made moons are having an effect on American minds today. The scientific advance of the Russians has brought about the greatest introspection into American education which the nation has known. Here are some of the latest words and thoughts on the subject.

Said Dean Athelstan Spilhaus of the University of Minnesota, education leaders should not be given more money "to go faster in the wrong direction. We've got to get competition and the three R's back in the schools instead of the three T's (typing, tapdancing, and tomfoolery). Sputnik is just a symbol of our soft education."

Virginia C. Gildersleeve, dean emeritus of Barnard College, said that "American parents are afraid of their children, afraid that they won't be happy" if they have to work too hard. "What they fail to realize is that one may get pleasure out of learning difficult things." Dean Gildersleeve asked for a "stiffening up" in the schools.

Speaking on the subject of college education, the president of Colby College, Dr. J. Seelye Bixler, declared that American educators have been "too complacent."

Advocating that students be required to study scientific subjects, he nevertheless said, "We have not taken seriously enough the idea that college is an intellectual institution... We must have a return to the old classicism plus the new learning. Our education has tried to do too much... both in high school and in college. There must be concentration, especially in pre-college work on the funda-mentals."

Acid remarks came from J. Frank Dobie of the University of Texas: "Educators in America have been holding school without much respect for the 'cultivated mind.'... They are Johnny-on-the-spot with Rotary Club optimism, football teamwork, Dedication-to-America Week, and such as that; but many of them don't know a thing when it comes to a real teacher of English, history, geology, or any other branch of knowledge... If the universities and colleges that are always crying for more money cut out 85 per cent of the education courses and 98 per cent of the journalism courses, they would save an enormous amount of money and at the same time advance knowledge... What a teacher needs, aside from having sense and character, is basic knowledge in history, science, languages, literature, the fundamentals..."

From the professional educator's viewpoint, that Dr. Max R. Goodson, dean of the Boston University School of Education, there is need for caution. "A steady perspective needs to be maintained" so that ill-considered proposals will not be adopted.

Close to home, the president of Jamestown College, Dr. Edwin H. Rian, took the State of North Dakota to task for cultural deficiency. Remarking on the lack of libraries, churches, art galleries, and musical organizations, he threw in some sharp criticism of the schools.

Of the 3,000 schools in the state, he said 2,500 were one-room schoolhouses. The state ranks 45th in salaries paid to teachers and 47th in the training required of teachers. "We are cheating our young people," he stated.

If the healthy introspection continues, MSC students of today may soon be partaking in an age of historic educational revolution.

In the mailbag

To the editor:

The policy of the Western Mistic which results in publishing all letters to the editor is to be commended. It would seem, however, that any policy poorly administered is a justifiable object of criticism.

I am protesting against the letter published in the Dec. 20 issue which bore my name. While it is true that I did send a letter to the Mistic, your reckless omissions and atrocious editing resulted in a series of incoherent thoughts bearing little similarity to the coherent opinions in my letter. Consequently, the letter was no longer mine.

It will be recognized that some judicious deletions are harmless when a problem of space confronts an editor. However, there is little or no justification for changing the meaning, or as in this case, the train of thought of those who choose to write to the editor. Indeed, it is to be hoped that this criticism is to be published in its entirety.

Edward M. Clarke

P.S. By deleting all sentences except the first one, this letter could be converted into a complimentary one.

Editor's note: Concerning the "atrocious editing," we would ask Mr. Clarke to check his carbons. The only editing of a letter is usually that of correcting atrocious orthographical concepts. But we apologize for deleting some material. This was poorly done and was made necessary by lack of space. Most letters we get could be stated in two well chosen sentences, but we try to print every word (or page) we get. Consequent advice: chop out the deadwood and chances of cutting are diminished.

for staff only

Pointing out the need for acceptance of discharged mental patients by society, Dr. John Paul Smith of MSC addressed the PEO, a ladies service organization Monday, Jan. 6, on the treatment of emotional disorders.

He said that denying mental patients work suited to their abilities makes readjustment to society unnecessarily difficult.

He also stated that the establishment of mental hygiene clinics would cost the state a "good part" of its 15 million dollar annual budget for the treating of mental disorders.

Gets appointments

Dr. Glaydon D. Robbins, dean of education at Moorhead State College, has been named to three assignments related to teacher education and professional standards in teaching early in 1958.

He has accepted an appointment to write a concluding section for a new edition of the book entitled, A Handbook for Minnesota Teachers to be published this spring. This book is used by members of the teaching profession and in teacher education throughout the state.

Dr. Robbins has also been appointed to serve in two positions of responsibility at the 1958 Regional Conference on Teacher Education and Professional Standards to be held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel in Chicago, Jan. 17 and 18.

Dr. Robbins

He will be the presiding chairman at the preliminary planning session for all conference leaders their orning of the first day of the conference at which time the work plan of the meeting will be developed. He will also serve as presiding chairman of the second general session of the conference on the second day of the meeting.

Polio inoculation deadline is Mon.

The deadline for requesting polio inoculations has been extended until next Monday.

Students who want to be immunized should report to the health service office in Ballard hall for request cards.

Polio immunizations cost the student one dollar for each inoculation.

The immunization clinic will be set up at the college health center in about two weeks.

A series of three inoculations will be given to students who have not had any polio inoculations. The first inoculation is followed by the second in from four to six weeks, and the third inoculation is given seven months later. Longer periods may elapse after the second and third inoculations.

Gordon gets wings

Earl S. Gordon, 2nd Lt., USAF, son of Mr. Earl M. Gordon, of 1311 S. 5 St., Moorhead, was awarded the silver wings of an aircraft navigator Dec. 19.

Lt. Gordon is a 1956 graduate of MS.

Edward Joseph Petersen, MS grad of '47 received his master of arts degree Dec. 19 from the University of Minnesota.

Term paper guide to be available

With the dates closing in on assigned term papers, probably not a few MSC students are wondering how to write footnotes, how to set down quotations, and how to do a hundred and one of the technical jobs required in a term paper.

A concise style sheet for written assignments is going to be available in a few days to students with such problems. Prepared by the language and literature department for use in English classes, the style sheet boils down all of the essentials for ready digestion, use, and reference.

Copies may be picked up in the publications office and the library free of charge.

Test schedule changed

Hours for the testing service at MSC have been changed, Dr. John Paul Smith announces.

Students wishing to take tests of general ability, academic aptitudes, special aptitudes, or personality may do so between 8 and 11 a.m. daily.

The service is for both MSC students and others desiring to be tested.

Any of you who remember the University of Minnesota's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" last year will be eager to see their "Taming of the Shrew" next Wednesday. Such a comedy I don't want to miss!

Saw a cartoon the other day, and whether or not it fits at MS I will insert it... It was a picture of a dormitory girl running down the hall yelling, "There's a man in my room, there's a man in my room. Lock the doors." Hummmm.

Did you know?... MS students can get tickets to NDSC and Concordia lyceum programs for 50 cents a crack. Worth investigation.

WHAT IS A MARCHING BAND THAT NEVER GETS A LUCKY BREAK?
(SEE PARAGRAPH BELOW)

MEMO TO MAESTROS: is your band dawdling instead of tootling? Is it full of feeble fifers and drooping drummers? Well, this musical slowdown may be traceable to lack of Luckies. Better give your band a break—and make it a Lucky one! A Lucky, you see, is a light smoke—the right smoke for everyone. It's all cigarette—all naturally light, wonderfully good-tasting tobacco. And Luckies' fine tobacco is toasted to taste even better. Now then, what's a marching band that never gets a Lucky break? Why, it's a Sore Corps! (Wasn't that cymbal?)

Dragons below par, drop two at Minot

Minot, N. D. — Displaying poor shooting and way below par rebounding, the Moorhead State Dragons finished fourth in the four-team Minot invitational basketball tournament.

The Dragons bowed to Northern State Teachers College of Aberdeen, S. D., in the tournament's opening game Friday night 78-55 and then were outplayed by Dakota Wesleyan 68-61 for the consolation title Saturday night.

Wolves win 9th

Grabbing only 27 rebounds for the entire 40 minutes and hitting on but 22 of 66 shots from the floor, the Moorhead Dragons were severely trounced by Northern 78-55 in the opening game of the tournament.

A big front line of 6'8" Harry Marske, 6'5" Ethan Hanks and 6'2" Marv Rasmussen saw the Wolves control the boards and win their ninth game in 10 starts. Moorhead picked off just six second half rebounds.

Seal

Moorhead did manage to hold a six point lead at one time at 17-11 but then the roof fell in as the Wolves of Coach Bob Wachs jumped to a 36-25 halftime lead. The Dragons were never in the game thereafter.

Lose to Wesleyan

Dakota Wesleyan of Mitchell, S. D., copped third place in the tournament by downing the Dragons 68-61 Saturday night. The Tigers, members of the South Dakota Intercollegiate Athletic Conference, led 33-28 at halftime.

The young Mitchell team, which boasts but one senior and a junior amongst a heavy laden freshman-sophomore squad, was topped by guard Harvey Schaefer's 16 points. Forward Don Screes added 15. John Pierson and Elton Byre rounded out a balanced attack with 13 points each.

As usual Sherm Moe and Lowell Bolger carried the offensive punch for the Dragons. Bolger drilled in 20, hitting on 8 of 17 field goal attempts and adding four free throws. Moe, having his coldest shooting night of the season, had 15 with five field goals and a like number of successful free throws.

Moorhead hit on but 23 of 64 shots for a .359 clip and the rebounding was no better against the smaller Tig-

Moorhead State avenged an earlier defeat by edging the Dakota Wesleyan Tigers 85-81 on the Dragons' court Tuesday night in a non-conference basketball game. The best rebounding performance of the season paved the way for the Dragons who copped their sixth game in 10 starts.

In pulling in 53 rebounds the Dragons set a new season mark. Rod Zimmerman, a 6'4" sophomore from Herman, pulled in 22 rebounds for a new season individual high. The big sophomore who had by far his best night of the season also finished with 23 points.

Zimm dropped 10 of 19 shots from the floor and added three free throws. However, in scoring Zimmerman had to take a back seat to high scoring Sherm Moe.

The Ada junior drilled the nets for 32 points and picked off an additional 15 rebounds. Moe hit on 14 of 29 shots and dropped four of five free throws. Al Santwire added 11.

Moe and Zimmerman sparked the Dragons to a 42-41 first half lead with Moe meshing 17 and Zimm 13. Wesleyan's outstanding sophomore guard Harold Koch hit 18 of his 22-point total in the first half. He dropped in 11 of 15 shots for the game to finish with top scoring honors.

The Dragons took a permanent lead on Gene Goedel's free throw which had the Moorhead quintet leading 70-69.

Wes sums it up

Dragon tails

By Wes Van Tassel

It would be difficult for you to read this paper without reaching some opinion on the subject at hand — that of college students' being obliged to feel that their athletic program deserves their support.

Ronald Thompson wrote an interesting article questioning the degree to which we should carry out this backing. One statement of his was, "It is just too ridiculous for anyone to sacrifice his well being for this group mania."

Van Tassel

Whether this be group mania or not would, in my opinion, be a person's individual concept. You are that person. What do you think?

I have questioned a number of his statements in recent articles mainly for the purpose of letting you decide for yourself which idea seems better. You will probably reach a satisfactory median and let it rest as is. Before you decide upon the limit you think you as a student should go, take these opinions into mind.

Clark's statement

Edward M. Clark states, "There is no need to curtail athletic competition, but there is a dire need to increase interest in academic subjects and to encourage more individualism."

Mr. Carpenter says, "The only plausible basis for an institution-wide spirit would be one that gives each person self respect." That, I believe we could each think about.

And Johnson

From Mr. Robert E. Johnson: "When we examine, then, the more subtle but true reasons for the controversy (the problem we are dealing with) it allows us the freedom of reasoning with a lesser degree of bias. People who like football but are inclined to favor the opinion of Mr. Thompson, can find a place in the problem." Can each of you find a place in the problem?

The opinion you reach will not startle the world, nor the school. We know fairly well which students show an interest in athletics. We would, of course, like to see better turnouts at games. There is a good team representing you and they can do a better job when they are supported.

For those of you that already back your team, Coach MacLeod had a very wise comment in his letter printed in the Mistic of December 20.

"Try to convert the 'heretics,' but do it oh so gently. We have something to sell but only to those who want it."

'Tis a wonderful thing indeed when so many talented young men work hard for perfection and school honor and the school appreciates.

MS drops match, Cobbers win 21-16

by Dave Kroshus

"Close" counts in horseshoe pitching, but it only adds to the sting of defeat in wrestling.

The 21-16 loss to Concordia was much closer than the score indicates. M.S.C. could have won it in one of two individual matches.

"Hard Luck" Hettwer lost his match on riding time again for the third straight time and this time Don Tirk joined him.

When two opponents are tied on points the victory is given to the wrestler who has the controlling position for the longest period of time. It is known as riding time and that is how Hettwer and Tirk were defeated.

The team gained two pins and two decisions in racking up their 16 points. Bankole and Kragness got things off to a good start by pinning their men and scoring five points each or a total of 10.

John Eskelson added three more in picking up his first victory. Keith Dyre was in his usual good form as he added another win to his record and three points to the team score. Dyre has been the mainstay this year and is leading the team in the win department. In an exhibition match John Hagen let his opponent know who was boss as he won by a substantial margin.

This Friday, Jan. 10, the big attraction on campus is the wrestling match with South Dakota State. Match time is 4 p.m. This should prove to be a tough meet and should be worth watching.
